ELD. Z. T. WILLIAMS' LETTER.

New York, N. Y., Mar. 9, 1900.

Dear News:

I will according to promise write my first letter on the Palestine trip.

I will not say much of the parting scenes at home Sunday morning, for they could only refresh the tender emotions that all shared; but of all partings I have experienced that was the most solemn and sacred; but we will drop the curtain over that scene for the present.

We shall ever remember with delight the last meeting at Columbia—Sunday night. The many good-byes and good wishes my friends gave me will be remembered with pleasure. We so much appreciated the presence of the preachers and leading members of all denominations.

Leaving Columbia Monday morning we came Louisville that night and remained until Wednesday morning, making such preparations there as we needed. Left Louisville for Lexington Wednesday morning, arriving at 11 a. m. There we spent the afternoon in seeing friends and sights. We had the pleasure of meeting Charles George and G. W. Montgomery, Harry Davis and Shelby Rowe, all of the Bible College. We also met Miss Lula Allen, of the Normal Department, and Melvin Judd, of the State College, and Mr. Blankenship, of Russell county, who is taking a business course. All of these students are well and seem well-pleased with their school. Miss Lula Allen, however, had to have an operation performed on her eyes, compelling her to leave school for the present. We attended prayer meeting at Broadway Christian Church, where we met R. H. Crossfield, one of our company, and after prayer meeting met a goodly number of friends, who bade us good bye with prayer and good wishes for our safe journey and return.

At 8:50 that night we took a sleeper on the C. & O. for Washington City, arriving there at 2:30 p. m. where we spent the remainder of the afternoon in sight seeing; and I must say that I do not expect to see so many grand sights in the same length of time on our entire trip as we saw in Washington that afternoon.

First, we went to the Capitol buildings. I saw the nine Judges of the Supreme Court in session, Judge Fuller, of Chicago, at the head. I have never seen a more dignified body of men in all my life. Judge Harlan, of Kentucky, was in his place, and he does credit to the State and nation. Then we viewed the Senate Chamber, Senator Fry occupying the chair, and Mr. Teller had the floor. We then went to the other wing of the great building and took a bird's eye view of the House of Representatives, Mr. Henderson, the Speaker, presiding. Mr. Dalzell, of Pennsylvania, had the floor, and Mr. Richardson, of Tennessee, who is the Democratic leader of the House, took some part in the discussion of a question. We then strolled over to the great Library building and took a hurried look at it. Alvin Strange was right when he said "human language is powerless to describe its magnificence." It is the grandest building in the world. Cost over six and a half million dollars; has over 900,000 volumes in it. We then took a street car ride over the city, taking in the Pension Department and all other department buildings, including the White House; but we were too late to see the President and his wife, as the hour for reception each day is from 10 to 11 a. m.

Did not get to meet Mr. A. A. Strange, as our time was too short to hunt him.

Washington is surely one of the prettiest cities in the United States.

We left Washington for New York this morning at 7 o'clock and arrived at 12:43 p. m. The first thing we did on our arrival here was to hunt up the Turkish Consul General and have our passports v'ised. We then went to the Bank of America and had our check cashed, and I will say here that I never received more courteous attention anywhere than were given by the managers of that great institution. It is located on the famous Wall Street, and I can say to-night I did my first business on that street to-day. I saw the Sub-Treasury building where Washington was inaugurated first President of the United States. His statue stands now where he made his first inaugural address. We then went to the American Express Company's office and exchanged our money for express checks of different denominations, so we could get them cashed as we need the money, at the various places. This is now considered the safest and most convenient way to carry money these days. We then took a ride out on Fifth Avenue to Central Park, and on this route we saw many of the most famous residences and hotels in the city. The Waldorf-Astoria is the finest hotel in New York. Rooms rent for from $5.00 to $50.00 per day. We did not stop at that hotel. A very few days there would exhaust our pocket-book. We had one 25 cents meal and one at 40 cents to-day, and we feel as comfortable to-night in our one-dollar room as Mr. Cornelius Vanderbilt.

R. H. Crossfield has been with me since I left Lexington, and he is a splendid companion to travel with. He has been to all these places before, and he has indeed been a great help to me in seeing so many sights.

We sail in the morning at 11 o'clock sharp. The vessel, Spartan Prince, we understand, will be very much crowded.

We will close this letter, and if the Lord in His good providence permits, I will write next from Naples, Italy, where we are due to land in fifteen days. It seems now like launching out on a new sea sure enough, but we will trust the Lord for his protection and fear no evil, at least as much as possible. Good bye.

Z. T. WILLIAMS.

P. S.—Will say to my friends who may wish to write me that it will only take 5c. postage to send me a letter any where on the route. Spectator please copy.

Rich, Red Blood.

Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron not only purifies your blood but makes new, rich, red blood. If you have skin eruptions, boils, abscesses, rheumatism or scrofula, or if you have a run-down, tired-out feeling, try this remedy and note the prompt results. $1.00 per bottle. Sold by W. M. Bell, Jopka, Ky.

Nerveless Creature.

There was one course open to Mr. McKinley by which he might have saved his self-respect. It was pointed out, the other day, when Mr. Brownell, a Republican Congressman from Ohio, who favors the policy advocated by McKinley in December, said in the House: "If the President of the United States, since his message to Congress in December, has obtained information which shows that conditions are different to-day from what they were then, it is a solemn duty that he owes to this House and the other House of Congress that he should communicate that additional information to us, that we should not be dependent upon conversations and interviews of individual members of this House with the Chief Executive for the information upon which we as a legislative body are to act." But Mr. McKinley has not done this. He has simply made it plain that he has no will of his own; that, instead of "compelling Congress to a just discharge of their legislative powers," he is ready to declare his conviction of duty to Congress, and then sign a bill utterly opposed to the course which he advised; in short, that he is the nerveless creature of the syndicate which is now running the government for its own selfish ends, and that the people no longer have that great safety of our institutions—an Executive who knows his duty, and who is not afraid to do it.—New York Post.

Taylor's Record.

Before the assassination of Senator Goebel Gov. Taylor pardoned in advance of trial mountain bandits confessedly guilty of carrying concealed deadly weapons and disturbing the peace, thus putting a direct premium on crime. When Senator Goebel was shot the de facto Governor immediately surrounded the Executive building with soldiers, previously notified to be ready, and prevented a search for the assassins. Then, when Goebel was expected to die any moment, the de facto Governor, to prevent action on the Contest Board's report, drove the Legislature through the streets of Frankfort at the point of the bayonet. When warrants for his close political associates are issued Taylor, no longer de facto Governor, but merely a usurper, uses armed force to prevent arrests, issues "pardons" and conspires to effect the escape of the accused persons. After defying the civil power and suspending the writ of habeas corpus in the case of court messenger Walker, he usurps the prerogatives of the legislative and judicial branches of the Government and counsels revolution. Every move follows the other as links in a chain, and yet this man has the hardihood to charge Democrats with conspiracy.—Louisville Times.

Neuralgia Banished.

There is no more severe or stubborn pain than neuralgia. A remedy that will cure it will cure any pain, Dr. G. S. Stivers, dentist, Louisville, Ky., says: "My wife suffered over two years from very severe neuralgia, which several physicians failed to relieve. I then got Morley's Wonderful Eight, which relieved her in five minutes and soon effected a permanent cure. Free trial bottles at W. M. Bell, Jopka, Ky.

Kentucky Game Laws.

Plain citizens may be shot from January 1st to December 31st.

Senators, governors and members of Congress may be shot during any political campaign and within sixty days thereafter.

Niggers can be shot any time. Hunters in search of this game are also allowed to use a stuffed club or a butcher knife.

If any man is caught drinking water it is a sign that he is no gentleman, and may be executed with whatever weapon is nearest at hand.

Colonels may be shot with impunity any time; while a squirrel gun is recommended for dispatching majors and captains.

No man shall be allowed to kill in excess of six persons per day. In cases where it is in affair of honor, this number may be increased to 103.

Every citizen who does not tote the remains of his victim from public sight within forty-eight hours of the time the first volley was fired, will be fined one gallon of moonshine.

Any citizen who steps on another citizen's toes may be shot on the spot with the privilege of apologizing thereafter.

If a citizen leaves home half shot and is found on the street, a short time thereafter full of buck shot, that is his fault and his relatives are not allowed to shoot more than seventeen suspects in their efforts to find the guilty person.—Louisville Journal.

Most in quantity, Best in Quality.

Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron is a tonic, a blood purifier and a blood maker. It does not stop with merely curing certain diseases, like scrofula, sores, abscesses, etc., but cleanses and builds up the whole system. All who have tried it say there is more cure in one bottle of Morley's Sarsaparilla and Iron than in six of any other kind. Sold by W. M. Bell, Jopka, Ky.

Ex-Gov. Leslie.

Ex-Governor Preston H. Leslie, of Helena, Montana, is visiting his daughter, Mrs. C. T. Cheek, and Governor Benton McMillin, at Nashville. Governor McMillin attended school in Glasgow when a boy, and boarded in Governor Leslie's family. Governor McMillin has been a member of Congress and Governor of Tennessee, and Gov. Leslie has been a Governor of two States, Kentucky and Montana. The Governor is eighty-one years old, but is hale and hearty and as elastic of step as a West Point graduate.—Park City Times.

The Trusts.

Why do the Republicans in Congress thus stultify the nation? Why do they do it? Aye, there's the rub. They do it openly and avowedly, in full view of the whole country, for the simple and sole reason that a bare handful of lobbyists, representing the sugar and tobacco interests in the United States, and these interests alone, have demanded this sacrifice of the nation's welfare and the Republican party's future.

The atrocity of the situation need only to be stated to be realized, and only to be realized to be everlastingly condemned. The spectacle of a Republican Congress yielding up results of the war, endangering the success of the whole expansion policy, and fastening upon a Republican administration the stigma of bad faith on the one great question by which it must stand or fall in the next election—and all this at the behest of two protected mercantile interests—is enough to make the most steadfast Republican tremble for the future of his party.

No national organization in this country has ever been sufficiently to resist long the force of the conviction which such a revelation must carry to the hearts of its members. No party which has surrendered itself body and soul to any one or two material interests—whether the interests of slaveholders or stockholders—has long survived the exposure of its folly. And if through the blindness and perversion of its representatives in Washington to-day the Republican party bend the whole destiny of this country to the demands of two industrial enterprises, thrust back to the hands of the Copperheads the very weapons which have been rested from them at infinite pains by a loyal press and a loyal people, and imperil the whole future of the expansion policy by stamping on it the trademark of oligarchical imperialism then we may well fear that the time is at hand to write on the wall of the capitol that this party has been at last weighed in the balance and has found wanting.

But we cannot believe that it has come to this. We cannot believe that the protest of the Republicans in the middle West, which are now being hurried by the thousands to the Representatives and Senators in Washington will be ignored. We cannot believe that either William McKinley or the United States Senate in this emergency will fail to heed the voice of the nation, as they have heeded it day by day and week by week ever since the destruction of the Maine in Havana harbor.

Their responsibility is a grave one. It is responsibility that has in it the weightiest results for the future of the United States, and it is not too much to say, tremendous consequences for the Republican party in this Presidential year. May they open their ears to the voice of the American people, grasp the situation with the sagacity which has been theirs in the past, and wrench the cause of national expansion out of the reckless hands stretched forth to throttle it.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

My mother suffered with chronic diarrhoea for several months. She was attended by two physicians who at last pronounced her case hopeless. She procured one 25 cent bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and five doses gave her permanent relief. I take pleasure in recommending it as the best on the market.—Mrs. F. E. WATSON, Aiken, Ala. Sold by M. Cravens.

A Cincinnati Southern freight train, bearing Gentry's Dad and Pony Show, stalled in King's Mountain tunnel in Lincoln county, Friday. Several men were overcome by heat and smoke, and John Sanders, an employee of the snow, died of suffocation.

That Throbbing Headache.

Would quickly leave you, if you used Dr. King's New Life Pills. Thousands of sufferers have proved their matchless merit for Sick and Nervous Headaches. They make pure blood and build up your health. Only 25c. money back if not cured. Sold by T. E. Paul, druggist.

A supposed case of bubonic plague has been discovered at San Francisco. The victim is a Chinese. A Japanese steamer reaching Port Townsend has the plague aboard. The plague has broken out in Buenos Ayers, and the conditions in India are worse, the death rate being greatly increased.
